Yes, spy apps really work. In fact, it's probably the easiest and most effective way to spy on someone's phone besides government-issued software. What makes these tools great is the fact that they're so easily accessible and quite easy to use. You don't require any previous knowledge and experience to use them. Is there a 100% Free Spy App for Android? The Android spy apps presented here are undetectable and let you sign up for free. Besides, many of these Android spy apps have a live demo or free trial to help you sample the feel of the spyware. Others boast a comfortable refund policy with up to a 30-day money-back guarantee. But to use them continually on Android phones and enjoy all the features you'll have to opt for a paid subscription. Any other providers promising you absolutely monitoring app are most likely scams seeking to steal your data or inject malware into your devices. So, if you're wondering how to spy on Android phone free of charge, the answer is - you can't, unless you possess advanced coding knowledge. Before you settle on a particular best spy app, there are some essential features it needs to have. Anything less, and it's not worth your time or money. Here are the basic ones to consider. Call logs and SMS text messages monitoring with optional call interception functionCompatibility with several versions of AndroidReal-time email and social media monitoring through your web portalLive GPS Tracker with the optional geofencing capabilityOffline backup to store data when the device isn't connected to the internetStealth mode for the app to run invisibly in the background of the target device it's installed onBrowser history viewing with the parental control option to block inappropriate websites How to Find Hidden Apps on Android? If you want to find hidden apps on Android, here are a couple of things you can do: Look for suspicious file names that are similar to system files, but out of placeUse an antivirus to detect hidden apps and remove themGo through each app separately and remove everything that you didn't installFind hidden apps on Android by opening the "Hidden app drawer" in the app menu:Tap the three dots in the top left cornerTap the "hide apps" buttonYou will see a list of hidden appsSee what doesn't belong there and remove it Is It Illegal to Spy on Someone's Cell Phone? No, spying on someone's cell phone isn't illegal - for the most part. You can only install spy apps for phones on different devices and computers that you own or that your underage kids own. If you want to spy on someone else's phone without their permission, though, you could get yourself into some legal trouble. So, if you're looking to keep a close eye on what your kids get up to, it is well within your rights to install spyware on a device that you bought for them. There's no specific law that prohibits you from doing this. Children do have a right to privacy, but only to a certain extent. As a parent, you must keep an eye on them and keep them out of harm's way. And, if you don't particularly have an open relationship with them, sometimes a phone spy app is the only way to get to know what's going on in their lives so that you can keep them safe. On the flip side, if you're an employer who wants to keep tabs on their staff members, it is legal to install top cell phone spyware on the company devices. It is, however, illegal to use the apps to monitor them through phones and computers they own without them consenting to it. The same applies to phone surveillance of your spouse or partner. The keyword here is "consent." Look up your local surveillance laws and see where they stand with regards to spyware. Why Download Hidden Spy Apps for Android? Children's Safety The millennial generation is tech-savvy, unlike past generations, they know everything about a cell phone. Even though there is good educational and entertainment content, kids tend to explore more about the other features. And, we all know how dangerous the internet can be. They may want to interact with friends, but strangers can also come in, so it will be pertinent to get an undetectable spy app to monitor their online activity and know their location. There is a wide variety of Android spy apps to choose from - just pick your favorite and choose your favorite tracking feature! Corporate Safety Android spy apps help employers know the productiveness of their employees. Since companies hold sensitive trade secrets and strategies, these Android spy apps help them detect if an employee is leaking the information to competitors by reading emails and other forms of external communication thanks to many tracking feature options. With these Android spy apps, you can also start monitoring and understand the online behavior and location of each employee by installing it on a target phone. Marriage Security If you feel your significant other is hiding something, you need to get a spy app to catch your cheating spouse in the act. A spy app for Android will reveal a lot about the honesty of your loved ones. It will show you the dating apps and the details of social media platforms, as well as all interactions on your loved ones target phone. Will the Person Know That I Am Monitoring Their Phone with a Spy App? Unless you disclose the fact that you've installed a spy app on their phone, your target will never know that you're monitoring their phone with a spy app. These phone monitoring apps for Android will keep you completely anonymous. The best spy apps come with a stealth mode feature, which, when activated, makes them completely undetectable on the target mobile device. It won't appear in the application list and is designed to be extremely lightweight. So, it has little to no impact on the target device's overall performance. mSpy, Flexispy, and Cocospy all have this feature. What Is The Best Spy App for Android? The best cell phone tracking app is mSpy. This amazing phone tracker boasts over 20 advanced tracking features such as SMS spying, location tracking, web browser history tracking, and social media tracking, among others. Compared to other spyware apps on the market, mSpy gives you the best quality for the lowest price.
